The 5 senses walk for disabled persons

The photographer/author Teresa Kaufman suggests a 5 senses' walk to disabled visitors - visually impaired, hard of hearing or autistic youngsters – in the Chamonix valley.

This walk takes place in a preserved natural environment, silent and stress-free.

The walk is not strenuous and is easily accessible on foot after a 10-15-minute walk on an uphill slope to get to the starting point of the itinerary.

Participants are welcome to bring a camera, a smart-phone, dictating machine, a sketch-pad in order to record their experience.

How long? About 3 hours.
